

ICBF SILENT AUCTION: July 16th

The AFS Physiology Section is excited to announce that the Silent Auction is back again at the Fish Congress! Last meeting was the first iteration of the Silent Auction at ICBF, and it was a tremendous success! This year, the ICBF Silent Auction will run during the banquet at the Great Hall at the Nest on Thursday night. We have already heard from many of you and expect to have a fun array of fishy books, art, jewelry, swag (clothing, totes, etc.), and other items. Please Note: donations of alcohol beverages cannot be accepted. All proceeds of the Silent Auction go to benefit student travel to ICBF.

How to Donate and Bid on Items at the Silent Auction:

At the banquet, there will be tables set up for the Silent Auction with instructions on how to leave your item, along with a corresponding bid sheet. The Silent Auction will close before the end of the Banquet on Thursday night. Winning bidders must retrieve their items when they leave the banquet on Thursday night and make the appropriate donation to the AFS Physiology Section via Paypal (instructions on the bid sheet). If you have any questions regarding receipt of your donation, please contact Ciaran Shaughnessy (Treasurer, AFS Physiology Section).

Please take part in the auction and make sure you leave the Fish Congress with something fishy! Thank you for supporting ICBF Students!
